

LASSIC LITERATURE

What would the titles of these books be?

1. A salute to Rosa Parks, by Jane Austen
2. Unsuspecting tourists at Sea World are taken in by the cute little shark, by Peter Benchley
3. A tale of two English rowing teams, by Emily Bronte
4. Alice's adventures as a voyeur, by Lewis Carroll
5. Guided tour of English pubs, by Geoffrey Chaucer
6. Intergalactic travel on Amtrak, by Michael Crichton
7. Gangster girl becomes advice columnist, by Daniel Defoe

8. A drippy sequel, by Charles Dickens
9. Strange bartending recipes, by Charles Dickens
10. Solzhenitsyn's exposure of the Siberian prison system, by Fyodor Dostoevsky
11. Memoirs of a Reagan impersonator, by Alexander Dumas
12. Biography of the woman who lived in a shoe, by Gustave Flaubert
13. James Bond battles Strom Thurmond, by Ian Fleming
14. Selections from the devil's own bookstore, by E. M. Forster
15. A roofer's triumph, by Nathaniel Hawthorne
16. Vision of a very hip future, by Aldous Huxley
17. Why some people won't go into politics, by Erica Jong
18. A secret alien graveyard, by Stephen King

19. Nature book with nothing left out, by Jack London
20. The history of hang gliding, by Margaret Mitchell
21. The Darwinian evolution of limbs, by George Orwell
22. A girl and her ugly horse, by Anna Sewell
23. A near mutiny on the North Pole, by Lincoln Steffens
24. Boyhood of a talking horse, by John Steinbeck
25. Chilling tales of the Stanley Cup playoffs, by John Steinbeck
26. Crocheting for castaways, by Jonathan Swift
27. Some airline stewardesses think they're so great, by William Thackeray
28. Poison sumac devastates a whole town, by John Updike
29. A quintet of comedy pieces, by Kurt Vonnegut
30. How to thatch your own roof, by Walt Whitman