

Oh, what a night! I was up way too late playing that mobile app again. I was so tired this morning that I tried to order a _____ at Macy's instead of Starbucks!

I was _____ to say anything, but yeah, you look exhausted. Did you end up going to that all-night taco place at 2 a.m. again?

Yeah—and I have the _____ to prove it. I don't think I can do this for much longer, though. I'm stopping today—cold turkey.

Well, it's _____ time, but I'll believe it when I see it. Did you at least do anything else last night?

I did a lot of walking around, but for an hour, I stood like a _____, keeping watch over a gym I had populated.

Those gyms, man—you're there for five minutes before loads of other players show up like a pack of _____!

This game is amazingly addictive. It's in my _____ to want to collect things, and the app taps into that so well.

Are you at least making progress? Or does it feel like you're just _____ water?

For the first few days, my exploits were the stuff of _____. But last night, the only interesting thing I caught was a cold.

Are you sure it isn't just hay fever? After all, it's the height of allergy season right now—or as I like to call it...
