

SPOCK

Mr. Spock excels at logical thinking, but is very poor at discerning human emotions. He believes each of the eighteen sentences below conceals one of the listed emotions, but can't figure out which. He suspects they're concealing something else as well. Help him overcome his weakness and reveal what is being hidden.

AMUSEMENT	FEAR	PITY
ANGER	HAPPINESS	SHAME
CALM	HATE	SHOCK
DISDAIN	HOPE	SORROW
ENVY	JOY	TRUST
EXCITEMENT	LOVE	WORRY

- 1 A novel's pry often hinges on an unlikely coincidence.
- 2 Wing for supremacy, you must be ruthless.
- 3 Tragically, Kurt Cobain ended his lily.
- 4 Card sharp's motto: carly and often.
- 5 Does that professorial British cons on his bulletin board?
- 6 When played on the bane of the Tiger sounds very different than the original.
- 7 White Fits consideration as Jack London's best novel.
- 8 You've never heard of Gretzky? Hey's greatest star!
- 9 Were Poe's stories featuring Duped or written longhand?
- 10 If you're a single dag difficult?
- 11 Many women when asked about sanding still as a turn-on.
- 12 How badly is your Ford Pined?
- 13 Do you prefer eatin' your onions rain' 'em?
- 14 Don't bother knocking; just pun the door.
- 15 I saw the Queen's coning a boat around the lake.
- 16 If people think you're pure apology will not mollify them.
- 17 Did that gypsy who read your pal telepathy too?
- 18 You don't need special climbing equipment to sounds of dirt.